THE ENVIRONMENT

WE BELIEVE

Environmental issues have profound effects on the living conditions of people worldwide. The water shortage in many parts of the world, cross-border pollution and rising sea levels are just a few of the challenges facing our global population.

We strongly believe that through more responsible choices, customers, companies and institutions can orientate the market more and more towards the affirmation of products and services with a reduced environmental impact.

WHAT WE DO

- Sourcing from reputable sources who take environmental concerns seriously
- Active policy to reduce “tile miles” by using bulk container shipments, on trains and direct services where appropriate and possible
- Recent upgrade to larger capacity and more fuel efficient vehicles, which has reduced our fleet size and increased efficiency
- Our fleet is “tracked” by satellite. Although this was introduced for service reasons, it has produced savings in fuel due to a reduction in miles travelled by drivers who need to operate efficiently
- Active internal recycling policy, including the recycling of “scrap” tiles from obsolete stocks and breakages, reducing local emissions
- Predominantly electric powered internal moving equipment
- Modern efficient warehousing. Our buildings are relatively new, built to the latest British building regulations
- Encourage communications predominantly by email, both internal and external, to reduce unnecessary print
- Using a supply of paper with maximum available recycled content.

WE PRIMARILY OPERATE WITH THREE INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNISED CERTIFICATES

THE ECOLABEL

The “EcoLabel” tiles are produced by a process using farsightedness and a respect for the environment. The factory producing these tiles was one of the first to obtain the “EcoLabel” certification. These “EcoLabel” tiles are produced to look at the future concerning respect for nature and care of the environmental impact. The EcoLabel is a quality mark issued by the European Union. The attribution system certifies environmentally friendly products.

Environmental criteria for granting the “EcoLabel” mark are based on scientific studies and extensive consultations with various economic and social elements. Only products with a low environmental impact can get the label.

LEED

LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) today represents the most adopted rating system for buildings in the USA and is also now used in more than 40 countries around the world. The LEED credits, established by the U.S. Green Building Council, certify the eco-sustainable, social and economic requisites of buildings, which can “function” in a sustainable and autonomous way in terms of energy and which have a low-environmental impact throughout their life-cycle. LEED is therefore a rating system (Green Building Rating System) established to encourage the development of “green” buildings.

The system is based on the award of points for every single eco-sustainable requisite of a building. Totalling up all the awarded points, the building obtains a certain eco-sustainable level.

CERAMIC TILES OF ITALY

Ceramic Tiles Of Italy is the quality mark of the Italian ceramic tile industry. This mark can only be applied to tiles made in Italy that are produced by manufacturers who are members of Confindustria Ceramica and who have adhered to the Ethical Code, which requires ceramic tile producers to clearly state the origin of their products.

ALMOST ALL OF THE TILES IN OUR RANGES ARE MANUFACTURED TO THE FOLLOWING STANDARDS

UNI EN ISO 9001:2000

The ISO 9000 family addresses “quality management”. This means what the factory does to fulfil the client’s quality requirements and applicable regulatory requirements, while aiming to enhance client satisfaction and achieve continual improvement of its performance in pursuit of these objectives.

UNI EN ISO 14001:2004

The ISO 1400 family addresses “environmental management”. This means what the factory does to minimize harmful effects on the environment caused by its activities and to achieve continual improvement of its environmental performance.

PLEASE NOTE

Only ranges marked with the Ecolabel have obtained the certificate.

Although we predominantly stock all of our ranges in large quantities for prompt delivery, some of the ranges and items within this brochure are "special order" or "non stock". Normally the main tile or base tile within these ranges will be from stock.

Where an item or range has been frequently requested, it will often be added to stock, as is our policy. It is advisable to check if this has occurred since publication of this brochure.

Frost Resistant

This literature is intended as a guide only, print cannot reproduce a true likeness of colour, tone or texture. Reference to a sample is essential.

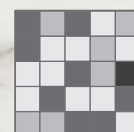

Products with the symbol below (V1-4), indicate the range has a degree of shade variation from tile to tile, characterised by a light to random finish to the surface.

• FINE PORCELAIN STONEWARE

Ceramic tiles obtained via pressing, with low porosity and made of a bright mix that can be uniformly coloured or shaded using powder mixes and grains of different sizes.

The composition of the mix is very similar to that of vitreous china but raw materials are selected in order to contain the minimum percentage of iron oxides. The mix is pressed, with specific loads higher than 50% compared to vitreous china. The firing cycle lasts less than one hour at a temperature of 1400°C.

Tiles can then be polished, in order to enhance their aesthetics. Resistant to frost and acids with an excellent mechanical resistance.

• GLAZED PORCELAIN STONEWARE

The application of a layer of glaze on the porcelain stoneware body. These materials are particularly suitable for residential use.

• TECHNICAL PORCELAIN STONEWARE

The most sophisticated single-load and double-load pressing techniques for processing atomised and micronised powders are used to manufacture products with high technical standards.

Their high technical performance allow them to be used in advanced architectural projects.

• COLOURED-IN BODY PORCELAIN STONEWARE

The random mixing of atomised and micronised powders creates aesthetic effects in the ceramic body, further enhanced by surface applications protected by transparent crystalline.

Their attractive appearance and technical performance make these products suitable for residential and light commercial use.
